

German is the most widely spoken first language and the second most widely spoken language in the European Union. There is enough similar vocabulary and pronunciation between German and English to assist native English speaking students in the early stages of learning. The German language is prominent in historical literature and philosophy and today it is the mother-tongue of the majority in Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Luxembourg and Liechtenstein, making it an ideal travel language to learn for European holidays.

German Level 1- Themen Aktuell 1, Lektionen 1-3.2

Topics	Vocabulary	Grammar
First Contact	Greetings Introducing yourself Spelling On the telephone Counting Professions and origin	Statements, questions, formal imperative, conjugations present tense
Objects in house and household	Naming and describing objects Understanding and making notes of prices Corrections	Definite and indefinite articles, negations, possessive pronouns
Eating and drinking	Talking about eating habits Ordering and paying in a restaurant	The accusative, verbs with vowel change, the auxiliary verb möchten
Revision

German Level 2 - Themen Aktuell 1, Lektion 3.3 -5

Topics	Vocabulary	Grammar
--------	------------	---------

Eating and drinking (pt. 2)	Compliments and complaints in a restaurant Grocery shopping German beer	The accusative, verbs with vowel change, the auxiliary verb möchten
Leisure	Being allowed/not allowed to do something Asking for information Making arrangements Writing postcards	Verbs with separable prefixes, the auxiliary verbs können, müssen, dürfen , telling the time
Living	Describing homes Furniture Talking about prohibitions Writing postcards, pt. 2	Demonstrative pronouns, indefinite pronouns, location indicators
Revision

German Level 3- Themen Aktuell 1, Lektion 6-8.1

Topics	Vocabulary	Grammar
Illness	Writing complaints	Possessive pronouns, the auxiliary verb sollen , informal imperative (singular and plural), the past tense (Perfekt) – structure and examples
	Giving advice and passing it on
	Persuading someone
Everyday life	Telling what has happened	The past tense (Perfekt) – all verbs, directions, personal pronouns in the accusative
	Reassuring oneself
	Talking about events and activities
	Passing on a story
	Reassuring oneself
In a town/city	Declining a request	Two-way prepositions
	Giving work instructions
	Telling, what has happened

Revision

German Level 4 - Themen Aktuell 1, Lektion 8.2-10

Topics	Vocabulary	Grammar
Berlin	Visiting sights Modes of transport Talking about advantages and disadvantages Talking about wishes	Two-way prepositions
Buying and giving presents	Suggesting presents Writing invitations Talking about potential purchases	The dative, comparative and superlative, demonstrative pronouns in the accusative
German language and German culture	Talking about biographies Geography Asking for directions Dates
Revision		